Crypto markets are different

Unlike equity and other markets, digital assets are much more difficult to analyze. Digital assets don't have a single source of trusted information. They are more volatile in nature, trade differently, are driven by emotions and have very little fundamental data.

Therefore, understanding and monitoring sentiment is critical for crypto traders.

The problem is that in order to achieve accurate sentiment, you must be able to observe, follow and analyze tens of thousands of investors, trading groups and influencers on social networks and forums – in real time!
